Heritage Museum prepares for April and May programs

SEGUIN — The Seguin Heritage Museum will be closed Good Friday, April 22.

On Saturday, April 30 (Earth Day), the museum will be open and will feature the Student Art Display. The public is invited, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. to view several rooms of artistic creations from students of all ages from many Seguin area schools.

Visitors are reminded that photographer Robert Gardner's books are for sale at the museum. "Kitchen Art," "Faces of the Far East" and "Postcards" are for sale in soft and hard cover. They are also available at his online bookstore, just Google FOTOG78155.

Saturday, May 14, Linda Williams and Bruce Coggin, authors of "McQueeney, Texas, A Pictorial History" will be at Seguin Heritage Museum for a book signing. Times will be announced on the museum's Facebook page and on the website, theheritagemuseum.org.

The book is a pictorial account of the past and present of McQueeney, complete with anecdotes and little known trivia. It is for sale at the museum.
